Telling True Stories: Oral History in Idaho

The lives of ordinary people often contain romantic moments, frightening incidents, sad tales, breathtaking escapes, and sudden twists of fate. Are you thinking of interviewing your grandmother? Would you like to save community stories for future generations? Kathy Hodges will lead a discussion about memory, story, and history, and explain some of the basics of recording and preserving oral narratives, using examples from the 2500 plus interviews in the Idaho State Historical Society's collection.

Kathy Hodges is the Oral Historian at the Idaho Historical Society. She has a B.A. in Anthropology from the University of California at Berkeley and an M.A. in history from Boise State University.
